一、概述

1.1 发展历史

中国市场化改革沿着企业改革和价格改革两条主线展开。20 世纪 80 年代初期，国有企业股份制改革催生中国证券市场，而商品市场价格改革孕育了中国期货市场。

90 年代初期中国期货交易所大多采用的治理方式是以营利为目的公司制，然而在当时发展状况下导致自律监管不足与期货市场混乱不堪。中国证监会于 1995 年出台《关于期货交易所进行会员制改造的意见》，要求期货交易所按会员制组织形式发展，来保证期货市场稳定发展。

在经历了盲目发展阶段后，中国对期货市场进行清理整顿：关闭了超过半数的交易所、重新审批期货经纪公司资质、限制市场准入资格、大量减少并规范交易品种。以应对交易所过多、经纪公司运作不规范、投机气氛浓厚、风险控制能力不强、交易品种重复等主要问题。

直到 1997 年，中国期货市场进入平稳发展阶段，建立了垂直统一的监管机构。《期货交易管理暂行条例》及四个管理办法被颁布和实行。交易所继续缩减至 3 家，交易品种重复的现象被根除。期货市场更加规范，经纪公司质量提高，投资者素质也逐步提高，风险意识和风控能力加强。期货市场日益规范、成熟。自 2001 年起，期货市场成交量恢复增长。至 2010 年，中国商品期货成交量达到全球第一。同年，推出沪深 300 股指期货，金融期货重新开启交易。

中国大陆地区现有五家期货交易所，分别是会员制的郑州商品交易所（郑商所）、大连商品交易所（大商所）、上海期货交易所（上期所），及公司制的中国金融期货交易所（中金所）和广州期货交易所（广期所）。香港地区的期货交易所为香港期货交易所。台湾地区的期货交易所为台湾期货交易所。

1.2 期货和衍生品法

2022年8月实行的《中华人民共和国期货和衍生品法》是衍生品市场“基本法”。在品种上市机制、期货公司业务范围、保证金多样化等方面做出规范。将促发展和防风险并重，从交易机制、监测监控、监督管理等各方面都做出了风险防控安排，确保期货市场平稳运行。将防范化解风险作为重中之重，专门在总则中规定建立和完善风险监测监控与化解处置机制，依法限制过度投机行为，防范市场系统性风险。

《期货和衍生品法》既是市场促进法，又是风险防控法，为防范系统性风险，确保市场健康稳定运行提供了法律基础。对期货行业发展提出了更高的合规要求，将国际业务引入专门的法律法规监管，这意味着具备杠杆效应的期货及衍生品市场将更加规范的发展，消除监管盲区，进一步发挥期货服务实体经济的功能。

跨境监管机制：从主体来看，对境外期货交易场所向境内单位或个人提供直接进入交易和境外期货经营机构接受境内期货经营机构委托从事境外期货业务的，采取的是“注册制”；境外交易所在境内设立代表机构采取的是“备案制”；从行为来看，境外机构从事或者委托境内机构从事市场营销、推介及招揽活动则为“批准制”。境外期货交易场所的上市合约，以境内交易所上市合约价格进行挂钩的，应符合国务院期货监督管理机构的规定。经国务院期货监督管理机构和国务院有关部门同意，国内期货监管机构可以和境外期货监管机构建立监督管理合作机制。

1.3 国际化

2018 年被称为中国期货国际化元年。中国首个国际化期货品种原油期货上市，铁矿石和 PTA 期货引入境外交易者等，标志着中国期货市场加速对外开放。国务院金融稳定发展委员会办公室于 2019 年 7 月宣布取消期货公司外资持股比例限制。证监会 2019 年 10 月正式公布取消期货公司外资持股比例 51% 的限制决定，于 2020 年 1 月 1 日开始，符合条件的境外投资者持有期货公司股比可至 100%。同年 6 月，摩根大通期货率先成为境内首家外资全资控股期货公司；2023 年 5 月，摩根士丹利作为境内首家外资新设期货公司获批设立。

目前外资参与中国期货市场的路径有三条：

第一，WFOE PFM(外商独资私募证券投资基金管理人)模式。外资通过审批，在中国境内设立外商独资企业，以该企业登记成为境内私募证券投资基金管理人的形式进行境内投资，币种为人民币。在基金业协会备案后，外资通过该路径可投资境内各类债券、证券、期货、期权、基金等品种。

第二，QFII/RQFII(合格境外机构投资者)模式。外资在证监会审批后，外管局允许的额度内，可投资特定品种的债券、证券、期货、期权、基金等。QFII 境外外币投资需先将外币换成人民币，RQFII 境外人民币投资需通过香港中资金融机构。

目前期货市场已有 46 个商品、股指期货及期权产品面向 QFII/RQFII 开放交易。中金所：沪深 300、上证 50、中证 500、中证 1000 股指期货；沪深 300、中证 1000 股指期权。上期所：原油、黄金、铜、铝、锌期货及期权；白银、螺纹钢、热轧卷板、20 号胶、低硫燃料油、国际铜和 SCFIS 欧线期货。郑商所：PTA、甲醇、白糖、菜籽油、菜籽粕、花生期货及期权；短纤期货。大商所：黄大豆 1 号、黄大豆 2 号、豆粕、豆油、棕榈油、铁矿石、线型低密度聚乙烯期货及期权。

第三，国际化期货或期权品种。外资可通过交易所境内会员或境外特殊参与者渠道进行国际化品种交易，保证金可为人民币或美元。目前有 15 个国际化期货合约和 9 个国际化期权合约。上期所：原油期货及期权；20 号胶、低硫燃料油、国际铜、SCFIS 欧线期货。大商所：黄大豆 1 号、黄大豆 2 号、豆粕、豆油和棕榈油期货及期权；铁矿石期货。郑商所：菜籽油、菜籽粕、花生期货及期权；PTA 期货。

为了使中国期货市场与全球先进期货市场接轨，同时增强市场吸引力，上期所、大商所、郑商所、中金所于 2019 年分别被证监会批复为“合格中央对手方(QCCP)”。同时证监会统一国内期货行业期货交易数据为单边计算，自 2020 年 1 月 1 日起，上期所、大商所、郑商所开始执行，推动期货市场数据标准与国际接轨。此外期货交易所的境外业务开展持续推动。大商所于 2019 年 11 月获得新加坡金融监管局(MAS)批准后，上期所和大商所均取得了新加坡 ROM 资质。上期所、大商所、郑商所都取得中国香港的自动化交易服务(ATS)牌照。

近年来，中国期货公司也积极参与海外衍生品市场。截止 2022 年，已有 23 家内地期货公司在海外设立了 26 家一级子公司。以经纪业务做支点，逐渐布局证券、期货、外汇、投资顾问、贸易和清算服务。期货国际化业务的空间潜力十分巨大。

1. Introduction on China Futures Market

1.1 History

China's capital market developed with the market economy reform progress. Shareholding reform of state-owned enterprises helped the improvement of China securities market, and commodity price reform led to the formation of China futures market.

In the early 1990s, most of China's futures exchanges were set up as Corporations for-profit, inadequate regulation led to a period of wild development. The futures markets exhibited some major issues such as excessive exchanges, irregular operations of brokerage firms, irrational speculative atmosphere, weak risk control capabilities, and repeated trading products.

In 1995, China Securities Regulatory Commission (CSRC) issued the Opinions on the Transformation of Futures Exchanges into Membership Systems, requiring the governance of futures exchanges to change from corporation to membership system to ensure the stable development of the futures market. Chinese government tightens the regulation of futures market. Over half of the exchanges were closed, brokerage companies were re-evaluated, market access qualification were restricted, futures products were compressed.

In 1997, China futures regulation system was reinforced, the market entered into a stage of stable development. Interim Regulations on Futures Trading Management and four other regulations were published. The number of futures exchanges was further reduced to three. The futures market became more regulated, brokerage firm quality improved, and investor qualifications gradually increased. Risk awareness and risk control capabilities were strengthened.

Since 2001, China futures trading volume began to grow. By 2010, China's commodity futures trading volume was the top among the world. In the same year, the CSI300 stock index futures were launched, reinitiating financial futures trading.

There are seven futures exchange in China, including five on the mainland: China Financial Futures Exchange (CFFEX), Shanghai Futures Exchange (SHFE), Dalian Commodity Exchange (DCE), Zhengzhou Commodity Exchange (CZCE), Guang Zhou Futures Exchange (GFEX), as well as Hong Kong Futures Exchange (HKFE) and Taiwan Futures Exchange (TAIFEX).

1.2 Futures and Derivatives law

The Futures and Derivatives Law, which came into effect in August 2022, serves as the basic law for China futures market. It clarifies the requirements of various issues such as product listing mechanism, business scope of futures companies, and diversification of margin requirements. It emphasizes both development promotion and risk prevention in areas such as trading mechanisms, monitoring and supervision, and regulatory management. It specifically stipulates the establishment and improvement of risk monitoring, control, and resolution mechanisms in the general provisions. It also restricts excessive speculative activities in accordance with the law to prevent systemic risks in the market.

The Futures and Derivatives Law provides a legal basis for preventing systemic risks and ensuring the healthy and stable operation of the market. It sets higher compliance requirements for the futures industry and introduces specialized legal and regulatory oversight for international businesses. This will promote the futures and derivatives market to develop in a more regulated manner, and further enhancing the role of futures in benefiting the real economy.

The content: Chapter 1 General Provisions. Chapter 2 Futures Trading and Derivatives Trading. Chapter 3 Futures Settlement and Delivery System. Chapter 4 Futures Traders. Chapter 5 Futures Operating Institutions. Chapter 6 Trading Place. Chapter 7 Settlement Institutions. Chapter 8 Service Institutions. Chapter 9 Futures Industry Association. Chapter 10 Supervision and Management. Chapter 11 Cross border Transactions and Regulatory Collaboration. Chapter 12 Legal Liability. Chapter 13 Supplementary Provisions.

Cross-border regulatory mechanisms: a "registration-based" approach is adopted for overseas futures trading exchanges that provide direct access trading to domestic entities or individuals, and for overseas futures operating institutions that are entrusted by domestic futures operating institutions to engage in overseas futures business. The establishment of representative offices by overseas trading exchanges in the domestic market follows a "filing-based" approach. If overseas institutions engage in or entrust domestic institutions to conduct market marketing, promotion, and solicitation activities, it is subject to "approval".

The listing contracts of overseas futures trading exchanges, which are linked to the prices of listed contracts on domestic exchanges, must comply with the regulations of The State Council Futures Regulatory Commission's futures regulatory authority. With the approval of the Commission's futures regulatory authority and relevant competent authorities, domestic futures regulatory institutions can establish a cooperative mechanism for supervision and management with overseas futures regulatory institutions.

1.3 Internationalization

2018 was the key year of internationalization for the China futures market. China's first internationalized futures Crude oil was on list, iron ore and PTA futures were also open to overseas traders, marked the acceleration of China's futures market opening to the global investors.

In July 2019, Office of the Financial Stability and Development Commission of the State Council announced the lifting of foreign shareholding restrictions on futures companies. In October 2019, The China Securities Regulatory Commission officially lifted the 51% foreign shareholding limit on futures companies. Starting from January 1, 2020, eligible foreign investors can hold up to 100% of the shares of futures companies. In June 2020, J.P. Morgan Chase Futures became the first foreign-funded wholly-owned futures company in China; In May 2023, Morgan Stanley was approved for the establishment as the second wholly foreign-owned futures company in China.

Currently, there are three paths for foreign capitals to participate in the China futures market:

Firstly, through the WFOE PFM (Wholly Foreign-Owned Enterprise Private Fund Manager) mode. After obtaining approval of specific governance agencies, foreign investors can establish wholly foreign-owned enterprises in China, and register them as domestic private fund managers. After filing with the Asset Management Association of China (AMAC), foreign investors through this path can invest in various domestic financial products including bonds, securities, futures, options, and funds in CNY.

Secondly, through the QFII/RQFII (Qualified Foreign Institutional Investor) mode. After obtaining the approval from China Securities Regulatory Commission, as well as State Administration of Foreign Exchange, foreign investors can invest in specific bonds, securities, futures, options, and funds. For QFII, foreign currency needs to be converted into CNY; for RQFII, CNH need to be invested through Hong Kong-based Chinese financial institutions.

There are 46 QFII/RQFII derivatives. CFFEX: CSI300 and CSI 1000 options; CSI 300, SSE 50, CSI 500, CSI 1000 futures. SHFE: Crude Oil, Gold, Copper, Aluminum and Zinc futures & options; Silver, Steel Rebar, Hot-Rolled Coil, TSR20, LSFO, Copper(BC) and SCFIS(Europe) futures. DCE: No.1 Soybean, No.2 Soybean, Soybean Meal, Soybean Oil, RBD Palm Olein, Iron Ore and LLDPE futures & options. CZCE: PTA, Methanol, White Sugar, Rapeseed Oil, Rapeseed Meal and Peanut Kernel futures & options; Polyester Staple Fiber futures.

Thirdly, specific internationalized futures and options. Foreign investors can trade internationalized derivatives through the exchange members or overseas special participants. The margin could be in RMB or USD. There are currently 15 internationalized futures contracts and 9 internationalized options contracts. SHFE: crude oil futures and options; TSR20, LSFO, Copper(BC) and SCFIS(Europe) futures. DCE: No.1 Soybean, No.2 Soybean, Soybean Meal, Soybean Oil and RBD Palm Olein futures & options; Iron Ore futures. CZCE: Rapeseed Oil, Rapeseed Meal and Peanut Kernel futures & options; PTA futures.

To promote the internationalization of China futures market, Shanghai Futures Exchange, Dalian Commodity Exchange, Zhengzhou Commodity Exchange, and China Financial Futures Exchange were approved by the CSRC in 2019 as Qualified Central Counterparties (QCCPs). In the same year, the CSRC unified the calculation method of domestic futures trading data, which came into effect on January 1, 2020, to align with the standards of international practices.

Efforts have also been made to develop the overseas business of futures exchanges. After obtaining approval from the Monetary Authority of Singapore (MAS) in November 2019, both the Shanghai Futures Exchange and Dalian Commodity Exchange obtained the Recognized Overseas Market (ROM) qualification. The Shanghai Futures Exchange, Dalian Commodity Exchange, and Zhengzhou Commodity Exchange have all obtained the Automated Trading Services (ATS) licenses in Hong Kong, China.

In recent years, Chinese futures companies have also actively participated in overseas derivative markets. As of 2022, 23 mainland futures companies have established 26 primary subsidiaries overseas, covers business in brokerage, advisory, trade, and clearing services of securities, futures and foreign exchange.

Overall, the international influence of China's futures market has been improving, and has more potential to grow in future.

在资金结算方面：双方通过场外平台进行权利金以及行权盈亏的资金支付，并可约定资金支付的具体时间，交易所将根据双方指令进行资金划转。

在参与者及开户方面：场外期权参与者与商品互换参与者进行整合，统称场外衍生品交易商及客户，原有互换交易商无须重复申请，与交易所签订补充协议后即可参与场外期权业务，避免参与主体重复提交申请材料，简化业务开户流程。

OTC Options

The business model of OTC options at DCE can be summarized as one trade, two funds. One trade refers to both parties creating OTC options contracts on the DCE platform and reaching a trade confirmation. Two funds refer to both parties making premium payments and profit/loss settlements on the platform. The exchange provides bilateral clearing and settlement services, acting as an intermediary without valuing, marking-to-market, or guaranteeing the OTC options positions of both parties.

Specifically, the underlying assets for OTC options are DCE futures contracts and commodity futures price indices published on the DCE official website. One party creates the OTC options contract, and both parties reach a trade confirmation through negotiation. Settlement can be achieved through exercising, abandoning the right to exercise, or closing out positions.

In terms of contract creation, participants can choose to create contracts using templates or customize them according to their needs. Template creation supports regular options (multi-legged combinations) and Asian options, with exercise profit/loss calculated by the exchange. Customized creation supports complex options, with exercise profit/loss determined through negotiation between both parties.

In terms of fund settlement, both parties make premium payments and settle exercise profit/loss through the OTC platform. The specific timing of fund payments can be agreed upon, and the exchange will transfer funds based on instructions from both parties.

In terms of participants and account opening, OTC options participants are integrated with commodity swap participants, collectively referred to as OTC derivatives traders and clients. Existing swap traders do not need to reapply and can participate in OTC options business by signing a supplemental agreement with the exchange, avoiding the need for duplicate application materials and simplifying the account opening process.

7. Hong Kong Futures Exchange

7.1 Establishment History

Hong Kong Futures Exchange was established in December 1976. In March 2000, the Hong Kong Stock Exchange (HKEX), Hong Kong Futures Exchange, and Hong Kong Securities Clearing Company merged into a single holding company, HKEX. On June 27th, HKEX was listed on the HKEX, becoming one of the world's first publicly listed stock exchanges. Stock code: 00388.hk.

7.2 Governance Structure

The corporate governance of the HKSE aims to provide a comprehensive framework to (i) enhance accountability to shareholders and other stakeholders, (ii) ensure timely and accurate disclosure of all material matters, (iii) fairly address the interests of shareholders and other stakeholders, and (iv) maintain high standards of business ethics and integrity. The governance structure not only enables the HKSE to fulfill its statutory duty to ensure fair and orderly markets and information dissemination, and to manage risks effectively, but also allows it to pursue its business objectives to further consolidate Hong Kong's position as an international financial center.

The established corporate governance structure of the HKSE consists of the following elements:

Board of Directors: Directly responsible and indirectly through its committees, leads the HKEX and its subsidiaries (Group) to provide long-term value to shareholders and other stakeholders. The Board of Directors also guides and oversees the Group's management in acting in the best interests of the public and its shareholders (with the public interest taking precedence in case of conflicts). The Board sets company policies, establishes strategic directions, ensures an effective internal control environment within the Group, and supervises the management responsible for day-to-day operations. The Board recognizes that delegating its functions and responsibilities to its committees and management does not absolve it of overall responsibility for good governance of the HKEX.

Nine Board Committees: Assist the Board in specific areas of responsibility, report decisions and actions to the Board, oversee the performance of management, and provide necessary recommendations. These committees include the Audit Committee, Board Executive Committee, Corporate Social Responsibility Committee, Investment Committee, Listing and Regulatory Affairs Committee, Nomination and Governance Committee, Remuneration Committee, Risk Committee, and Risk Management Committee (statutory).

Company Secretary: Assists the Board in its procedures and communication between Board members and between the Board and shareholders and management, and provides advice on governance and corporate social responsibility matters to the Board and its committees.

International Advisory Council: Serves as a consultative body to provide the Board with professional insights and perspectives, comprising top experts from the business, technology, and financial sectors with an international perspective.

China Business Advisory Council: Serves as a consultative body to provide the Board with high-level views and perspectives on the economic outlook of mainland China and other insights on mainland China development, comprising senior industry experts with deep knowledge and experience in the Chinese market.

Management Committee: Authorized by the Board to handle the day-to-day management functions of the business and execute all approved projects and business plans.

External Auditors and Internal Audit Department: Provide assurance in financial reporting and/or internal controls to ensure accountability and the quality of audits.

Shareholders: Elect representatives as Directors (Directors) of the HKEX to oversee the Group's business operations at the shareholders' general meeting.

Other Stakeholders: Collaborate with the Group in day-to-day operations, including institutional investors, market regulators, government agencies, listed/issuing companies, market intermediaries, exchange/clearing participants/members, information providers and market participants, mainland exchanges, overseas exchanges, investing public, media and analysts, non-governmental organizations, industry organizations, professional bodies, market users, suppliers/business partners, and employees.

The Securities and Futures Commission (SFC) of Hong Kong plays a leading role in market regulation and listing regulation in several areas and serves a complementary role in cases involving corporate misconduct through exercising its statutory investigative and enforcement powers.

One of the SFC's statutory responsibilities is to oversee and supervise the HKEX in carrying out its functions and duties relating to listing matters. Regular meetings are held between the SFC and HKEX staff to discuss listing-related matters. Under the dual filing regime, the HKEX submits a copy of the data submitted by listing applicants to the SFC. If the SFC considers that the disclosed information in the listing materials appears to contain false or misleading data, it has the power to veto the relevant listing application. The SFC also conducts periodic audits of the HKEX's performance in regulatory and listing matters.
